This is an oral-based course that focuses on fluency. Classes are taught almost entirely in the target language. Due to the busy life of our students, we do not base our classes on homework assigned by the instructor, but do offer suggestions to practice target language in-between classes.

Beginner students should have little or no experience in the language. Students are introduced to basic grammatical structures (present tenses, present continuous, future (I am going to) and one form of the past).

By the end of this course students should be able to communicate in verbal and written forms about personal information, daily activities, future plans, and some past experiences.
